Prophets, seers, poets, and artisans have often been at the forefront of cultural and planetary transformations that have changed civilization, initiating new cycles of heavenly virtue and bringing deeper spiritual understanding. Great teachers and avatars have embodied various divine essences and noble qualities of the Godhead in order to call mankind back to their origins in Spirit and oneness.

Throughout history, these individuals, including the obedient disciple and humble misfit, have been called to be messengers of light and truth in order to inspire God's sons and daughters to rediscover their inner ethical moorings and to accelerate the realization of their higher purpose—to out-picture their divine design.

A messenger is one whose being is in accord with the energy and principles of the new revelation that the divine world seeks to broadcast to a particular community, culture, or the world.

God uses those who are willing and able to deliver spiritual messages that may not be easy to receive or objectify, yet which are key to advancing the embodiment of divine love and grace within and throughout a planet and her people.

In today's world, many clairvoyants, psychic channelers, and mediums claim the title or office of messenger. Yet few have developed, in this or previous lifetimes, the spiritual maturity, constancy on the path, deep fortitude, humility, and self-sacrifice necessary to be pure crystalline vessels for the blazing fire of holy truth and the transmutational energies of the living Word delivered through God's emissaries—the ascended masters, angels, and other divine beings.

Those who have prepared themselves well may be anointed for this sacred work through a dispensation that the masters request and receive from cosmic councils. Such messengers are given a protective mantle of light that safeguards their service, as well as the clarity and purity of the words that they share.

Profile of a Messenger

A true messenger is simply the conveyor of the Word of God as it is dispensed from on high through the agency of the Holy Spirit. This occurs through various means, though most typically through telepathic transmission. The messenger's chakras (energy centers) must be clear enough and his/her aura pure enough, through spiritual discipline and training over many lifetimes, to both bear and convey the fiery treasures from the ethereal planes of divine awareness. Then, as soon as God's higher messengers release the radiation and verbiage of the miraculous, mysterious, and magnanimous heartstreams of heaven, the embodied messenger instantaneously captures and releases them in time and space to humanity.

In the Old Testament of the Holy Bible, a prophet would often say, "Then the Word of the Lord came unto me, saying, . . ." whatever the message happened to be. (For example, see Jeremiah 1:4, Ezekiel 14:2, and Jonah 1:1.) Sometimes the "word of God" was spoken by an archangel of light; sometimes by a great emissary, such as Melchizedek or the Ancient of Days; and sometimes it came from the Living Logos itself or one of the Solar Logoi, who oversee the evolution of our Earth, our solar system, and even vast galaxies of light throughout the cosmos.

Messengers do not question the words inspired upon them by these divine personages, who themselves are messengers on behalf of the Lord God. They will deliver the message no matter how it may be received by others, whether accepted or rejected. Thus, their words of light are prophetic and rich in the graces of the Holy Spirit, the love of God for mankind, and the wisdom teaching that must emerge in every generation to stimulate the minds, hearts, and souls of people everywhere toward the fulfillment of their own inner God-ideal.

Some messengers have or develop a spiritual gift of gab, yet more often they are simply willing to receive and then deliver what the higher emissaries share—unmodified and exactly as revealed.

Though every messenger has a human emotional/mental/memory filter, he or she still seeks to speak or write the message exactly as it is conveyed.

Messengers of Today

A prophecy in the Bible tells us: "It shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams" (Acts 2:17). Thus, in this modern era, many are being called to share the higher wisdom inspired upon them through heavenly sources, and many beautiful teachings and revelations are coming forth through thousands who have had either near-death experiences or profound, direct contact with Jesus, the blessed Mothers Mary and Kuan Yin, the Buddhas, the Archangels Michael, Gabriel, and Raphael, and other divine beings.

There is no one messenger who speaks on behalf of God to all peoples of all nations at any given point in time. For there are too many languages and cultures for one to reach all. God sends many to speak on his behalf. Yet to continue in this sacred activity, messengers must be true to the words spoken unto and through them. To retain the mantle of a true messenger, one must humble oneself before the Lord and the living Word and, in that true humility, acknowledge that it is the Father-Mother God communicating those words of sacred fire.

A true messenger of the Universal Great White Brotherhood is not permitted to be a medium for unascended deceased beings or discarnate spirits, as this would sully his or her holy mantle. Those who do channel impostors that pose as ascended masters are simply their tools to hook gullible souls into believing them so that they can syphon off their light. Thus, disciples should be wary of the dangers of the astral world and of those who come to mutter and peep all manner of flattery, which only seeks to ensnare unsuspecting souls in an illusory world of psychic thralldom, very often through the promise of revealing past lives or predicting their future.

There are false prophets, false teachers, and false messengers. Therefore seekers must discern the truth by attuning to the heart of God through their own hearts. The Holy Spirit will reveal those who speak unrighteously for egoic satisfaction, self-gratification, financial gain, human power, notoriety, or fame.

Delivering HeartStreams for the Masters

Within The Hearts Center Community, the embodied messenger receives and delivers what the master Saint Germain has termed HeartStreams, which take three forms: dictations, discourses, and darshans. Every HeartStream has three primary dynamics:

1. The light, or radiation, of the master that is released
2. The fluidity of the release of the message, in which the “human element” of the amanuensis is overcome and sublimated
3. The accuracy of the message, which is conveyed telepathically and received as a detailed “transcription” or “dictation” of the master’s words

To learn more about dictations, discourses, and darshans, see our booklet What Are HeartStreams?

David Christopher Lewis explained that during the most powerful HeartStreams, the master’s energy field is directly over him. Very often his voice is altered to sound much different than his normal speaking voice, reflecting the character and tone of the divine being who is speaking through him.

One or Many Messengers?

The Day of Pentecost marked the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the disciples and the proclamation to peoples of all tongues of the prophesying that was to come, through that Spirit, in the last days. And so we find today that many are being awakened and quickened by the Holy Spirit, receiving various gifts and virtues from heaven and being called to deliver their own message of light to various groups of individuals, spiritual communities, and those who are responsive to the Divine, no matter what their religion or belief system.

Many people receive direct inspiration from their Higher Self, and every individual has a guardian spirit/angel or a sponsoring master who overshines them and protects their soul evolution—and their guidance should be heeded. Therefore, all who are true sons and daughters of God are, in a sense, messengers—bearing gifts and talents within the soul that must be objectified and delivered unto the world, by grace, through action, self-mastery, and co-creativity with the Divine One. Yet the voice of an anointed messenger who speaks on behalf of heaven to many upon earth carries a greater weight of conviction. Often his/her words, which represent the Logos, the Eternal Word, cut to the core of the soul who hears them and spark that soul to rise up on wings of light to fulfill her mission—to seek God, the light, and all that is divine in order to ascend and merge once again with that light.

David Christopher Lewis
on His Messengership

"By God's grace, I have been able, because of a very wonderful dispensation, to communicate with the ascended masters. They communicate with me. I never expected this to happen. Yet on June 6, 2004, I had a mystical experience during a church service while we were singing a song to Jesus and another master named Kuthumi, or K.H. I was taken up in consciousness to a very high state of being, beyond my body. The masters Jesus and Kuthumi communicated to me at this higher level and asked me to receive dictation as an amanuensis for them. I did not know fully at that time, of course, what that would entail in years to come.

“I began my next day by praying, being still, and then preparing to simply write what I thought would be a composite of many of my personal spiritual experiences throughout this lifetime. Instead, beloved Jesus came to me and dictated a very beautiful and poignant message; the next day, the Master Kuthumi dictated. I continued receiving HeartStreams daily from various masters and, in time, the Hearts Center movement was founded.

“During these sacred HeartStreams, a very delicate fabric of light is woven through my consciousness, and the ascended masters speak beautiful words. Yet more important than the words is the light that they emit and that flow through the master’s chakras, which are superimposed over mine. Truly, everyone in the audience becomes an active participant in the release of the message that is conveyed, as the masters activate their chakras and pour light through them as well.

“Often, nothing that I say will be new to your soul, because in your Higher Self you already know everything. What is occurring now upon Earth is simply a reawakening of all of us to the higher truth that we, at a very deep, deep level, have always known throughout our embodiments. Yet now, in this age, it is time to self-realize who we are and become the fullness of our God Self, our reality. Each and every one of you has done something in your life to participate at this level of beingness, whereby you live in the essence of your true nature. And something is occurring within you that is beautiful; it is a metamorphosis of your spirit, fully, so that you can emerge as a Christed being, as the real you.”

The Vital Role of Receivers of the Word

The audience of spiritual devotees is key to the receiving of HeartStreams. Without those to both hear and then apply the teachings conveyed, there could be no messenger! These initiates are also an important part of the delivery of live HeartStreams because they are focal points for the release of spiritual radiation from the ascended masters. They both receive that light and then distribute it through the nexus of their chakras, thereby playing their role as messengers of the Word and advocates for the Aquarian Age of divine love, enlightenment, and freedom for every soul.

Prior to each HeartStream there is an opportunity for those who are present to be active participants in preparing for the master's coming through prayer and meditation. As this preparation progresses, devotees may experience a palpable raising of the vibration in the room. The messenger also readies his consciousness for the delivery through deep meditation and concentration upon the light of God within the master's presence.

The messenger's sensitivity to all surrounding vibrations during a dictation is heightened, and therefore it is vital that the audience remain centered and in a state of deep reverence and devotion to ensure a successful transmission. In this way, each one present greatly helps to "anchor" the radiation behind the message and the message itself during its delivery. Those whose inner sight is opened may sometimes see the master's presence superimposed over the messenger, with great streams of light flooding into the room and into the Earth through the master's/messenger's chakras.

HeartStream Blessings

For all who hear or read them, every HeartStream contains spiritual keys to enhance one's progress toward ultimate freedom from the rounds of rebirth on Earth. The profound teaching contained in these missives are truly a blessing—a unique opportunity for recipients to rise higher in consciousness and receive guidance on their path toward reunion with God in the ascension.
